DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on Dec 2, 2005 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 2, 5-9 and 11-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holman, US Patent No. 5,522,476 in view of Smith, US Patent No. 3,135,213.

Holman discloses in Figs 1-3, a fluid pump mounted within a transmission reservoir comprising a pump housing; a pump element; a pumping chamber having an intake port and an exit port which are oriented in a substantially coplanar relationship; a plate member 70 adjacent to the pump 80 having an inlet and outlet 73, 74 defining the passages in fluid communication with the intake or exit port; at least one other intake port 61 or exit port 62 derived from porting configured in a surface adjacent to the plate member and not integral with the plate member; but does not disclose said pump element operatively connected to an electric motor wherein said motor is disposed in said pump housing.

However, Smith teaches in the Figure a submersible motor pump unit 10 comprising, inter alia, a pump element 48 operatively connected to an electric motor 28; said motor disposed completely within a pump housing 16, 48 which also houses the pump element.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the apparatus of Holman in view of the teachings of Smith to connect said pump element to an electric motor so as to eliminate the need to connect said pump element to a driven shaft or gear of the transmission and provide operation of said pump when said transmission is not operated.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed Oct 3, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the housing for the electric motor in Smith et al. does not house the pump element, pointing to the separate housing devices 16 and 48. It is the Examiner's view that the term "housing" is broadly interpreted to include elements 16 and 48 as integrally formed together. It is noted that, although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Furthermore, the claims are interpreted as broadly as their terms reasonably allow. In re American Academy of Science Tech Center, 367 F.3d 1359, 1369, 70 USPQ2d 1827, 1834 (Fed. Cir. 2004). It means that the words of the claim must be given their plain meaning unless applicant has provided a clear definition in the specification. In re Zlets, 893 F.2d 319, 321, 13 USPQ2d 1320, 1322 (Fed. Cir. 1989).
